You asked for a site that earns trust. This one is built to.

“The current UI/UX, visual appeal and overall user experience do not meet our expectations. We are looking for a premium, modern, attractive, responsive, dynamic and technically strong website.”

From your original brief

Every point in that brief is answered below, in the same order you wrote them. The site is finished and live for you to click through; nothing here is a mock-up.

YOU ASKED FOR	WHAT HAS BEEN BUILT
Premium	Built around your own logo. The blue and red on every page are taken from your existing artwork, so the site matches the sign above your door.
Modern	Photography, movement and depth throughout. The partner bank logos scroll continuously, figures count up, and cards lift as you pass them.
Attractive	Twenty-two photographs, eight illustrated product marks, and a layout that changes shape as you scroll rather than repeating one block.
Responsive	Checked on every phone, tablet and computer size we could test. Your phone number is reachable without scrolling on all of them.
Dynamic	Three calculators that work instantly as the visitor types, with no form to fill in and no waiting.
Technically strong	No page builder, no plugins, no database. Fewer moving parts than your current site, and nothing that needs monthly updates.
Technical SEO	137 pages, each one written to answer a different search. Most competitors have five or six.
Performance	Pages arrive complete rather than assembling themselves in the browser, which is the single biggest thing that makes a site feel fast.
Security	Nothing to log into, no customer data stored, and no forms that could leak it. The safest a website can be is one with nothing to steal.
Scalability	Adding a new loan product or a new area is a small change that produces a full set of pages, not a rebuild.

One thing worth saying plainly

Nothing in this document is a promise about rankings or enquiry volumes, because nobody can honestly make one. What we can show you is a site that answers 137 different searches instead of fifteen, says something true that no competitor in Pune is saying, and puts your phone number in front of every visitor on every screen.

Where your current site loses customers

Four things, all of them fixable, and all of them costing you enquiries today.

It looks like every other loan site

A borrower comparing four brokers in Pimpri-Chinchwad sees four versions of the same page. There is nothing to remember and no reason to pick one over another.

It answers almost no searches

Your site has fifteen pages. Someone searching “business loan Bhosari” or “gold loan Baramati” finds a competitor, because nobody has written a page that answers them.

It asks before it gives

Visitors arrive wanting to know one thing: how much can I borrow? The usual answer is a form demanding a mobile number first, and most people leave rather than fill it in.

It says nothing only you could say

The one genuinely valuable thing about PayYou is not on the site: you compare a profile across twenty-five lenders and submit to one, so the customer takes a single credit enquiry rather than twenty-five.

	YOUR SITE TODAY	THE NEW SITE
Pages a customer can land on	15	137
Areas with their own page	None	16, from Bhosari to Phaltan
First thing a visitor is asked	Their name and mobile number	Nothing. The figure appears as they type
Partner banks shown	Logos only	Logos, plus what each one is good for
Ways to reach you from any screen	Header only	Header, opening section, and a bar that follows on mobile

The idea the new site is built around

Apply to eight banks yourself and your credit report carries eight hard enquiries, and a lower score at exactly the wrong moment. PayYou shortlists first and applies once. That is a real advantage, it is easy to understand, and no competitor in Pune says it plainly.

Your brand, not a new one

The blue and red across the site are taken from your existing logo. Your logo and your twelve partner bank logos appear exactly as you publish them today.

Built to be found

Pages arrive complete, so Google, Bing and the AI assistants read them straight away. Each one tells search engines what it is about in the format they read directly.

Built to be trusted

Rates are described as indicative, because they are. The notice that PayYou advises rather than lends appears on every page, written to be read rather than hidden.

Built to convert

Your number is on every screen: in the header, in the opening section, and on a bar that follows the reader down the page on a phone.

Why a broker at all

Four things we do, and what each costs us.

Every advisory firm claims to be transparent and customer-first. Those are not claims, they are words. These four are specific enough that you could catch us failing at them.

It also costs us the commission we would have earned by letting you find out the slow way.

One enquiry, not one per hope

We check your credit report with a soft pull, shortlist the lenders whose policy your profile actually fits, and submit to one. Your report carries a single enquiry rather than a trail of them.

Spraying eight applications converts better in the short run. It is also what leaves people unable to borrow six months later.

The lender pays us, and we say so

Our fee is a referral commission from the lender on a completed disbursement. That is how every DSA in the country is paid; the difference is that it is written on this page rather than left for you to assume.

You should weigh our recommendation in that light, which is why we show you the comparison between lenders rather than only our conclusion.

Products, and the lenders behind them

What we place

Eight products, and what each one is actually for.

Rates and limits below are the lowest across our partner panel, not offers. Where a lender has not published a figure we say what it depends on rather than invent one.

The same file gets different answers

A cash-salaried applicant is an automatic decline at one lender and a routine approval at another. An MIDC leasehold shed is unfundable at most banks and ordinary business for three of the NBFCs on this list. The file did not change; the lender did.

Answering the first question, and the second

Worked the way a lender does it, on your income less the EMIs you already pay, which is what usually decides the answer rather than your salary.

Work out the EMI

Indicative only. A lender also weighs your credit score, employer, job or business vintage and, on a secured loan, the property, and each sets its own ratio. Computed in your browser; nothing you enter is transmitted.

How it runs

Four steps, and what does not happen at each.

Nothing is submitted anywhere until you say so. The credit check we run first is a soft one and leaves no mark on your report.

01

Tell us the requirement

Amount, purpose, and a rough picture of your income and obligations. Five minutes on the phone is usually enough to know whether this is straightforward or not.

- ✓ No documents needed at this stage.

02

We read your profile the way an underwriter will

Income, vintage, existing EMIs, credit report, and, for a secured loan, the property. This is where a file is either fixed or found to be unfixable, and it is the part most brokers skip.

- ✓ Soft check only. No hard enquiry on your credit report.

03

We shortlist the lenders you actually clear

Out of 25+ partners, usually two or three are genuinely right for a given profile. You see what each would offer (rate, amount, tenure, fees) side by side, before anything is submitted.

- ✓ You choose. We do not submit anywhere without your instruction.

04

One application, then disbursal

We submit to the lender you pick, manage the documentation and the queries, and stay on it until the money lands. One credit enquiry, not twenty-five.

- ✓ Sanction, rate and disbursal remain the lender's decision.

07

The tools, and the panel

One number worth knowing: flat versus reducing

Vehicle and consumer finance is still sometimes quoted at a "flat" rate, which charges interest on the whole original amount for the entire tenure, even though you have repaid most of it. It sounds far cheaper than it is.

QUOTED FLAT RATE	OVER 3 YEARS	OVER 5 YEARS	OVER 7 YEARS
9.99%	13.00%	15.00%	16.50%
9.99%	14.50%	16.50%	18.00%
9.99%	16.00%	18.00%	19.50%
10.99%	17.50%	19.50%	21.00%
12.99%	21.00%	23.00%	24.50%

Read the right-hand columns: A "9% flat" loan over five years costs roughly the same as a 16% reducing-balance one. If a quote does not say which costs it is on, ask, and if the answer is flat, ask for the reducing equivalent in writing before you sign.

The other calculators

Eligibility → Balance transfer → All three →

These are estimates, not quotations. They compute standard reducing-balance mathematics on the figures you enter and exclude processing fees, insurance premiums, statutory charges and any lender-specific fees. What a lender will actually offer depends on your credit profile, your income, your existing obligations and, on a secured loan, the property. PayYou Advisory is a Direct Selling Agent and does not sell rates.

The same file gets different answers

A cash-salaried applicant is an automatic decline at one lender and a routine approval at another. An NBFC leasehold shed is unfundable at most banks and retailing business for three of the NBFCs on this list. The file did not change; the lender did.

Applying widely damages you

Every formal application puts a hard enquiry on your credit report, and several in a short window lower your score, at precisely the moment you need it highest. Shortlisting first is not a convenience, it is protection.

The cheapest advertised rate is often irrelevant

A rate you do not qualify for is not an offer. What matters is the best rate among lenders that will actually approve your profile, which is a different and much shorter list.

We are paid by the lender, and you should know that

PayYou is a Direct Selling Agent. Our fee comes from the lender on a completed disbursement, not from you. You should weigh any broker's recommendation in that light, including ours, which is why we show you the comparison rather than just the conclusion.

Bank or NBFC. The difference from your side

Not a question of which is better. They underwrite differently, and which one suits you depends almost entirely on how standard your profile is.

	BANKS	NBFCs
INTEREST RATE	Generally lower, and on home loans linked to the RBI repo rate so it moves with policy.	Generally higher. The premium is for taking on files a bank's policy will not.
UNDERWRITING	Policy-driven and rigid. A profile that does not fit a template is declined rather than discussed.	More judgement, more flexibility. Cash income, thin credit files and unusual property are workable.
PROPERTY ACCEPTED	Mainstream residential and commercial with clean, conventional title.	Also NBFC leasehold, industrial sheds, godowns, Grampanchayat land and loan-against-structures.
SPEED	Slower. More checks, more layers, more queries.	Materially faster, which for a business with a deadline is sometimes the only thing that matters.
CREDIT SCORE	Strict floors. Below them the application does not progress at all.	Lower floors, priced accordingly. A route back for someone rebuilding a record.
BEST USED WHEN	Your profile is standard and you have time. This is the cheaper money.	Your profile is not standard, or the timing matters more than the rate.

The lender panel, and what each institution is genuinely good for

Where most of your customers will see it

What changes on a small screen

A call bar that follows

Once a reader scrolls past the first screen, a bar appears at the bottom with Call and WhatsApp, and stays there for the rest of the page.

Buttons you can actually hit

Every button and menu item is sized to be tapped first time, which is the difference between a number that dials and one that misses.

Lighter pages on mobile data

A phone is sent a much smaller version of each photograph, and the page holds its shape while images arrive rather than jumping about.

Nothing slides off the side

Wide comparison tables scroll within their own frame. The page itself never scrolls sideways, which is the most common fault on a mobile finance site.

How customers will find you

Most loan websites have five or six pages and compete for the same handful of searches. This one has 137, and most of them answer a question no competitor has written a page for.

PAGE TYPE	WRITTEN TO ANSWER	COUNT
Product pages	"personal loan in Pune", "loan against property Pune"	8
Local pages	"business loan Bhosari", "home loan Hinjewadi"	112
Calculators	"EMI calculator", "loan eligibility calculator"	4
Questions	"low CIBIL score loan", "cash salary loan"	1
Company and policy	The pages Google weighs heavily for financial firms	12
Total		137

Why the local pages matter most

Each one is written for that area specifically. The Bhosari page is about MIDC leasehold sheds and ninety-day customer payments. The Hinjewadi page is about approved project lists and variable pay. The Baramati page is about income that arrives in a season. They rank because they are genuinely different pages, not one page with the place name swapped.

What is already in place

- Your existing links are preserved. Twelve addresses from your current site point automatically to their replacements, so whatever ranking you have moves across rather than being lost on the day you switch.
- Google is told what every page is. Your business, address, opening hours, each loan product and every question, in the format Google reads directly to build a listing.
- A map of the site is generated automatically and kept current, ready to submit to Google on the day you launch.
- ChatGPT and the other assistants are catered for. A plain summary at </llms.txt> tells them what PayYou does, and importantly that PayYou advises rather than lends, so they cannot describe you incorrectly.
- Secure by design. There is nothing to log into and no customer data stored, so there is nothing to leak.

None of this replaces your Google Business Profile. For a local firm that listing still brings in more enquiries than anything else, and genuine customer reviews on it will outperform any change to this website. The site is built to support it, not to substitute for it.

How we will know it is working

Four things worth watching, and an honest view of when to expect each. A website does not change a business in a fortnight.

WHAT TO WATCH	WHERE	WHEN
Calls and WhatsApp enquiries	Ask every caller how they found you and write it down. This is the only number that really matters.	Week 1
Pages appearing in Google	Google Search Console, free to set up against the site map above	2–4 weeks
Searches you start showing up for	Search Console, the Performance report	1–3 months
Local pages bringing enquiries	Search Console, filtered by page	3–6 months

What we would expect, and what we would not

The product pages and the calculators should start attracting visitors within weeks. The local pages take longer, because Google is cautious with new pages about money and lets them prove themselves first. Anyone promising you first-page rankings in a month for “personal loan Pune” is not being straight with you.

The single highest-return action available to you is not on this website. It is collecting genuine reviews on your Google Business Profile. Fifty real reviews will bring in more enquiries than any change we could make here, and the site is built to send people there.

Who does what

TASK	US	YOU
Setting up Google Search Console	Yes	Approve access
Submitting the site map	Yes	—
Updating the Google Business Profile	We advise on the wording	You hold the login
Asking customers for reviews	—	Yes, and it is the important one
Copy, rates and photograph changes	Yes, same day	Tell us what to change

What we need from you

Six items. Only the first holds anything up; the rest each make the site measurably stronger.

ITEM	WHY IT MATTERS
Confirm your track record	Your current homepage says “5 years of experience” and “100+ loans processed”. Your About page says the company was incorporated in January 2026 with 50+ customers. We have used the more conservative figures, because a claim a customer can check and disprove costs more than a smaller true one earns.
CIN, GSTIN and IRDAI number	A registration number a visitor can verify is worth more than any adjective on the page. These go in the footer of every page.
A named Grievance Officer	The complaints page sets out a full escalation route, ending with the RBI Ombudsman. It needs a name at the top of it.
Your Google Business Profile link	So the address and map pin on the site match your listing exactly. Mismatches quietly cost you local ranking.
Your logo files	The original artwork, plus a white version for dark backgrounds. The file on your current site is small, which limits how sharply it can be shown.
Photographs of your office and team	The site currently uses licensed stock photography, credited openly. Real photographs of Chapekar Chowk will beat every one of them, because they are true. A good phone in decent light is enough.

None of this blocks your review

Go through the site now and tell us what should read differently. These six items can arrive afterwards, in any order, and each one is applied the day it reaches us.

The first one is worth deciding early

The figures on your current site contradict each other, and it is a matter of public record which is correct. Better to settle it before the site is promoted than after somebody asks.

Getting this live

- 1 Review the site
Open it on your phone and on a computer, click through a few pages, and mark anything that should read differently. Copy, figures and photographs are all quick to change.
- 2 Send us the six items listed on the previous page
Registration numbers, the Grievance Officer, your Business Profile link, logo files and any photographs. None of them takes long to gather.
- 3 Point payyouadvisory.com at the new site
The switch itself takes minutes, and your existing links carry across automatically. We would recommend doing this promptly, so the new site and the old one are not both live.
- 4 Submit it to Google, and start collecting reviews
We will set up Search Console and submit the site map. You start asking every satisfied customer for a Google review. That combination is what turns 137 pages into enquiries.
